U.S. Tornadoes Leave 214 Dead

CHICAGO (AP)—A terrifying barrage of tornadoes raged through a six-state area in the United States midwest Sunday, killing at least 214 persons and injuring thousands more.

Officials expected the toll to climb much higher. Hundreds were missing.

The weather bureau described the disaster as the worst tornado outbreak since 1953. But the storm fell far short of the 1925 twisters in Missouri, Illinois and Indiana that left 689 dead, injured almost 2,000 and caused more than $10,000,000 in property damage.

Hardest hit was central and northern Indiana, where 30 cities were slashed and at least 91 persons killed. Officials said 1,000 persons were injured.

"They're just hauling them away, load after load," one bewildered Indiana state policeman told The Associated Press.

The new storm came only hours after President Johnson declared 39 Minnesota counties a disaster area in the wake of the state's worst flood in history. An estimated 20,000 persons fled their homes before overflowing rivers throughout the state.

The deadly tornadoes struck first in eastern Iowa in the middle of what had been a pleasant Sunday afternoon. By late evening, twisters had raged through Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio, hopping and skipping as they moved to the east.

The twisters claimed 56 victims in Ohio, 23 more died in Michigan, seven in Illinois and three in Wisconsin.

The Indiana toll was the worst disaster in the state's history. In 1963 an ice show explosion at Indianapolis took 74 lives.

"The house started to shake and tremble, then all hell broke loose," said one survivor in the Lebanon area, one of the score of towns in the path of a twister.

At least 11 persons were killed in the area, and 75 homes battered. The injured jammed hospitals and witnesses saw patients being treated in hallways.

In nearby Dunlap, a tornado tore through a trailer camp, where it did a few tiny houses. Twenty were killed and 91 injured. Most were residents of the camp.

Voice In Space 'Heard' By Soviet

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Soviet radio astronomers believe they may have discovered a new civilization millions of miles away in space, it was reported tonight.

One of them said he is certain that a distant source of radio waves, known as STA-102, is controlled by intelligent beings.

But the Soviet news agency Tass said other Soviet scientists are more cautious and want more verification of the data received so far.

Observations by Soviet radio astronomer Gennady Shokholskiy have shown that emissions from STA-102 follow a regular pattern of flickering which is repeated every 100 days.

Another radio astronomer, Dr. Nikolai Kardashev, suggested a year ago that if STA-102 is really an artificial source of radio waves, its emissions would follow a regular pattern.

Scientists here said the discovery may be one of the most outstanding in the history of radio astronomy.

One of them said it might be the remains of a super-nova, a very bright star, but Kardashev was more certain, he believed a new super-civilization has been found.

Gordon Slices 87 Per Cent Of Canada's Budget Deficit

OTTAWA (CP)—An 87-per-cent cut in the federal budget deficit to $63,000,000 for the fiscal year ended March 31 from the previous year's deficit of $619,200,000 was reported today by Finance Minister Gordon.

The huge cut came after a six-year string of deficits running as high as $791,000,000 in 1961-62.

Mr. Gordon's pre-budget white paper tabled in the Commons also said more good times lie ahead for 1965.

It attributed the massive deficit cut to the economy's buoyancy. Budgetary revenues rose to $7,318,000,000, up 14 per cent from 1963-64. Budgetary expenditures increased five per cent to $7,219,000,000.

The gross national product—value of all goods and services produced—rose 8.9 per cent in calendar 1964 to $47,003,000,000, biggest gain since 1958.

It should continue to rise in 1965, the white paper added.

It also predicted that federal expenditures this year will not rise as rapidly as the GNP. This would appear to leave room for some tax cuts.

The white paper is a stage-setter for the finance minister's budget in which he sets tax rates. The budget is expected soon after Easter.

Vote By 560 Mental Patients Snarls Irish General Election

DUBLIN (Reuters) — The possibility of court action over results of the Republic of Ireland's general election loomed today involving the validity of votes cast by 560 mental patients.

The election Wednesday was the first in which patients with mild mental disorders were allowed to vote.

The validity of some of these ballots in one district could decide whether Prime Minister Sean Lemass achieved an overall majority for his ruling Fianna Fail party.

The opposition Fine Gael party at Longford-Westmeath said if its candidate was defeated there, the party would ask for the returns to be considered in court because "We believe that undue pressure was brought to bear on the mental patients at the Mullingar Hospital and that they were influenced to vote for other candidates."

Simpson Sawmill Joins Crown-Zellerbach Group

SIMPSON SAWMILL LTD. COMPLEX FROM KNOX MOUNTAIN

Wider Scope For Progress Now Possible In Interior

S. M. Simpson Sawmills Ltd., Kelowna, has joined the Crown Zellerbach Canada Ltd. organization.

The move was announced Monday at a press conference with Robert G. Rogers, president of Crown Zellerbach Canada Ltd. and Horace B. Simpson, president of Simpson Sawmills.

"This is not a takeover and not a purchase," said Mr. Simpson.

"As a public company we are interested in development of our resources everywhere," said Mr. Rogers. "We have been doing business with Simpson's for three years and a mutual interest developed over many months."

"There is a multi-million dollar potential to be developed in the Okanagan Valley lumber industry and in the foreseeable future the present facilities of Simpson's will be enlarged."

"The future will depend on the resources available to back it up. One of the advantages will be greater utilization of existing resources. For instance there is a possibility further use can be made of Okanagan sawdust. We now buy wood chips from Simpson."

FURTHER TO GO

"The 800 employees of Simpson Sawmills Ltd. will not change, but there will be expanded opportunities for them too, through the new organization. Young men coming up will have further places to go if they so desire."

The policy of Crown Zellerbach is to continue operating its components under their own names and this will apply to Simpson's.

Horace Simpson will remain as head of the Kelowna based operations and will also become a member of the Crown Zellerbach planning group.

Mr. Rogers said present planning for 1965 within the Crown Zellerbach company indicated a $30,000,000 expansion program.

"How this expansion planning will affect Simpson cannot be known at this point. It will depend on recommendations from Mr. Simpson and his people," he said.

"We find the Simpson operation fits in very nicely with the overall Crown Zellerbach picture."

ROBERT G. ROGERS ... not a takeover

HORACE B. SIMPSON ... not a purchase

"One small example is in our lumber sales. We have found it more economical to purchase lumber from B.C.'s Interior for our Crown lumber yards on the prairies rather than from the coast. It is conceivable these purchases will now be made from the Simpson complex."

Loud "Yes" Sounds Out In Regional College Vote

Voters Saturday overwhelmingly signified they want a regional college established in the Okanagan Valley.

Ten school districts polled opinions of their residents and, with the exception of Penticton, people found the idea appealing and their school boards to go ahead with further planning.

The question asked, "Are you in favor of your school district participating in the establishment and operation of a regional college in the Okanagan Area?"

In January 1963, Dr. John H. MacDonald of UBC in his report on the future of higher education in B.C. said Kelowna should be the site of a regional college.

Dissection along the Valley followed with both Vernon and Penticton claiming the college should be in their cities.

Finally, a regional college committee was formed from the boards of the ten school districts from Revelstoke to Osoyoos and they decided to hire an independent authority to re-survey the situation.

On March 15, 1963, Dr. F. T. Giles of Seattle produced a report that said a college should be located near Kelowna. The boards had previously agreed to abide by his decision.

The vote was based on that report.

Before the vote officials said the college could go ahead if sufficient districts, that were contiguous, voted more than 50 per cent in favor.

The next step will be to form a college council, and decide on financing, curriculum and other specific details.

Dr. Giles, after his March report, was commissioned to continue the study and recommend a specific site for the institution.

When all the details are ironed out a referendum will be called.

led to indicate the approval, or otherwise, of the districts that will now be involved.

According to the Saturday vote, Penticton will not be included, but there is provision in

Inquiry Planned Into Collision In St. Lawrence Which Killed 3

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP) — Arrangements are being made today for an inquiry into a collision in the St. Lawrence River which turned a German freighter into a hell of smoke and flame.

The blow amidships Saturday crippled and eventually capsized the 3,665-ton West German freighter Transatlantic with the probable loss of three lives—the third mate, a mechanic and a passenger.

The 2,735-ton Dutch freighter Hermes received bow damage when the two ships slammed together some 12 miles west of here in Lake St. Peter, a widening of the river.

Twelve of the Transatlantic's 32 crew members were injured. The crew of the Hermes escaped unharmful and the Dutch vessel, doing a turnaround in course and carrying most of the Transatlantic's injured, made the 80 miles back to Montreal under her own power.

At the time of the collision in clear weather shortly before 7 a.m. EST — the Transatlantic was inbound for Montreal with general cargo. The Hermes, with a crew of about 30, was travelling toward the Atlantic.

The first victim to be identified was Uwe Krueger, 23, West German third mate of the Transatlantic. The two other men were listed as missing and presumed dead.

In the pre-budget white paper tabled today in the Commons, he estimated an 8.9-per-cent gain during 1964 in the gross national product—the value of all goods and services produced. This is the biggest gain since 1950 and compares with an upswing of six per cent in 1963.

"In terms of economic achievement, the year 1964 was a remarkable one," said the paper. It was even more unusual because the gain was not "unduly inflated by price advances, as has been the case on occasions in the past."

B.C. Accidents Leave 8 Dead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Eight persons died accidentally in British Columbia during the weekend.

Five persons were killed by traffic mishaps, one by drowning, one who fell from a mountain and one when four boys were buried by a collapsing washout.

Randy John, 13, died when the soft shale wall of an old washout collapsed on the Mountain Indian Reserve, 11 miles east of Lillooet. RCMP and nearby residents dug through tons of rubble to rescue three other boys trapped in the slide.

Quebec and Ontario accounted for 23 of Canada's 35 accidental deaths during the weekend.

A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday local times showed that Quebec had 10 victims and Ontario 13.

Eighty-Six Pilgrims Drown In India

LUCKNOW, INDIA (Reuters) — About 70 pilgrims were feared drowned in the Sarju River in Uttar Pradesh state Saturday when railings of a pontoon bridge gave way during a Hindu bathing festival. It was reported here Sunday.

The pilgrims had gathered to celebrate the anniversary of Rama the Seventh, reincarnation of the god Vishnu, by bathing in the river. They were crowded on the pontoon when the iron railings gave way and about 100 fell into the water. Twenty-seven were saved.

HYDERABAD (Reuters) — Sixteen Indian pilgrims including 10 women and four children were drowned Monday when two boats capsized in the river Godavari in Andhra Pradesh, police said.

Federal Budget Unveiled April 26

OTTAWA (CP)—The 1965 federal budget will be brought down Monday night, April 26, Finance Minister Gordon told the Commons today.

RECORD GAINS NOT SEEN THIS YEAR, BUT ...

Economy Should Move Ahead

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Gordon says that while the record economic gains of 1964 may not be matched this year, the economy "as a whole" should move forward to new and higher levels of activity.

In the pre-budget white paper tabled today in the Commons, he estimated an 8.9-per-cent gain during 1964 in the gross national product—the value of all goods and services produced. This is the biggest gain since 1950 and compares with an upswing of six per cent in 1963.

"Most important of all, the level of unemployment was significantly reduced, particularly in the areas where it has been most serious for a number of years. This most welcome improvement occurred despite the fact that, mainly for demographic reasons, the Canadian labor force was expanding more rapidly in 1964 than in any year, save two, for which official statistics are available."

Prices remained relatively stable, the consumer price index rising by 1.8 per cent, the same as in the previous year. Average industrial wages and salaries rose by 3.7 per cent, compared with 3.5 per cent in 1963.

Unemployment during the year averaged 5.3 per cent of the labor force against 6.3 per cent in the previous year; 6.7 per cent in 1963 and 8.5 per cent in 1961. Total employment increased by 3.6 per cent and the over-all increase in wages, salaries and supplementary incomes paid out was 8.7 per cent above 1963.

Mr. Gordon said the economic highlight of the year was "the dramatic revision made by the business sector in its capital investment-expenditure plans."

Public and private capital expenditure last year totalled $10,270,000,000 compared with $9,393,000,000 in 1963 and all sectors of industry contributed to the rise.

CAPITAL SPENDING UP

The manufacturing industry increased its capital spending by 33.7 per cent, the forestry industry by 21.7 per cent and mining, quarrying and oil wells by 21.5 per cent. Other sectors had smaller increases for an over-all industrial rise of 15.3 per cent.

Corporation profits, prior to taxes and payment of dividends to non-residents, were 14.6 per cent higher than in 1963.

While farm cash income increased during the year, there was a decline of 14.7 per cent in total farm income, also in a second successive year in a crop of the magnitude of the mammoth 1963 harvest, could not be expected."

Fred Peart, British agricultural minister, Sunday offered to have a quiet pint of beer with an anonymous farmer who threatened to shoot him. "Beer

JAMES BOND UNDER FIRE

BERLIN (AP) — Some of James Bond's enemies took a hefty potshot Sunday at Britain's superspy from behind the safety of the Berlin Wall.

"If ever there was a literary figure that summed up all of the frustrations of a society, then it is this fellow with the double O," East Germany's Communist party paper, Neues Deutschland, said.

It devoted half a page of its Sunday edition to a biting, sarcastic attack on the late Ian Fleming's creation, denouncing Her Majesty's Secret Agent 007 as the sublimation of "all capitalist, reactionary convictions."

Fleming's best-selling thrillers—still to be published behind the Iron Curtain—hold that "socialism and crime are synonymous, labor unions are fifth columns of the Soviet Union, intellectuals are a moral eggheads, slaves soundbites and killers, Negroes superstitious assassins (and) mulattoes dung," said the paper.

Bond "shoots, stabs and threatens for the free world, tears subhumans to shreds, and seduces the ladies, all for Queen and NATO."

Cigarette-Lung Cancer Scare Hits Gordon Where It Hurts

OTTAWA (CP) — The cigarette-lung-cancer scare has hit the federal government right in its tax collection pocket book.

In the government's fiscal year ended March 31, first since publication of the U.S. surgeon-general's report linking lung cancer and cigarette smoking, revenue from various tobacco taxes dropped $1,600,000 from the previous year.

Although the amount seems trivial set against government revenues totalling more than $7,000,000,000, it marked a sharp reversal of the trend in recent years when year-by-year tobacco revenue increases ranged from $24,000,000 in the 1961-62 fiscal year to $9,300,000 in 1963-64.

The figures showing tobacco revenues of $391,000,000 in the last year against $382,600,000 in 1963-64 appear without amplification in the pre-budget white paper Finance Minister Gordon tabled in the Commons today.

The revenues come from excise tax and excise duty on cigarettes, tobacco and cigars. The white paper offered no breakdown of revenue from each of the three.

BUDGET WHITE PAPER

(Continued From Page 1) The $63,000,000 budgetary deficit for 1964-65 was the lowest since a deficit of $28,000,000 in 1957-58. In 1956-57 Canada had a surplus of $257,500,000.

When Mr. Gordon presented his budget March 18, 1964, he estimated a deficit of $453,000,000.

Not included in the budgetary figures was the old age security fund, from which old age pensions of $15 a month are paid to everyone 70 and older. In 1964-65 special sales, income and corporation profits taxes going into this fund amounted to $553,000,000, exceeding payments of $589,000,000 by $36,000,000.

In 1963-64 the old age security fund operated at a deficit of $58,000,000. The excess of receipts over payments last year reduced the outstanding temporary loans made to the fund by the treasury to $24,000,000 at March 31, 1964.

Combining budgetary income and expenditures with the old age security fund, the budgetary deficit of $63,000,000 was reduced to a nominal figure of $19,000,000. This marked a giant stride towards a balanced budget.

The three big increases in revenues were in the areas most influenced by economic good times:

—Sales tax revenues rose 24.1 per cent to an estimated $1,191,000,000.
—Corporation tax income climbed 19.9 per cent to $1,510,000,000.
—Personal income taxes, the biggest single revenue producer in federal accounts, rose 13 per cent to $2,108,000,000.
On the expenditure side, defence spending was down 8.2 per cent to $1,581,000,000—still 21.9

Price Changes Mostly Small On Canadian Stock Markets

By JOHN BELANGER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Price changes were mainly small on Canadian stock markets last week, but a firm underdone prevailed in industrial issues.

On the Toronto, Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges, a dearth of corporate news and a lack of interest in penny issues combined to provide one of the slowest weeks this year.

Industrials and base metals advanced slightly, while western oils took fractional losses and golds dropped substantially. A resurgence of interest in oil exploration issues at mid-week helped boost volume in a few long-dormant issues. But most price changes were a few cents either way.

Banff Oil gained $1.30 to $5.35 on 201,636 shares. The stock, with the company drilling for oil in northwestern Alberta, hit a high of $5.70. It traded as low as $1.30 in January.

Dynalene Petroleum advanced to $5.50 and hit a high of $6.00 on volume of 50,294 shares in the first hour of trading.

Silvermine, a speculative mine, rose 2 to 35 cents on 248,200 shares.

The main list was higher. Price Brothers and Moore Co. each added 1/4 to 43 and 70 1/2 and Abitibi 1/4 to 13 1/2 and Great Lakes 1/4 to 24 1/2 and 22 1/2 and Aluminum and Bank of Montreal advanced 1/4 apiece to 30 and 65 1/2.

Jaco gained a point to 80 1/2 among senior base metals while Rio Algom and Noranda each declined 1/4 to 15 1/2 and 55.

Golds were quiet. In oils, Home B rose 1/4 to 22 1/2 and the A issue 1/4 to 21 1/2.

Queen Firm On Berlin Trip

BONN (AP)—Britain's Queen Elizabeth II is still planning a trip to Berlin despite the Communist harassment of the city last week, the West German government indicated today.

President Heinrich Lübke's office released the program for the Queen's 18-day state visit. The May 27 appearance in Berlin was not cancelled.

There were demands in Britain that the Queen's visit to Berlin be called off because of the events last week. Communist planes repeatedly buzzed the city and the East Germans shot down the autobahn to West Berlin almost daily to demonstrate their displeasure because of the lower house of the West German parliament, the Bundestag, met in West Berlin.

Factories Booming For 17,800,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—There were 17,800,000 Americans at work in manufacturing last month, the greatest number in 21 years, and factory overtime and earnings were at new highs, the labor department reported Friday. The average factory wage was $2.06 an hour and the average weekly salary was $107.38, including three hours' overtime pay. The average factory work week of 41.3 hours was the highest since the Second World War.

Bill McIntosh, electrician, got a Scotia Plan Loan —$1300—in 45 minutes.

Bill McIntosh was worried. He'd had a lot of home expenses he hadn't figured on. He needed quite a bit of money—and he needed it quickly.

Bill decided to take his money problems to his bank—The Bank of Nova Scotia. After talking to the manager about the many new things he had to buy for his new home Bill was asked a few quick questions about his job, income and how much money he needed.

In 45 minutes Bill McIntosh knew he would have the money he needed to pay all his home bills.

This is an average example of speedy Scotiabank service. Of course this actual customer was not named Bill McIntosh and the speed of the loan depends upon individual circumstances. But—there are more and more people with all kinds of names and jobs coming to The Bank of Nova Scotia to have their money problems solved—quickly. Why don't you?

A Scotia Plan Loan is one of the best—most practical—ways for you to consolidate your debts. Your loan is life-insured at no extra cost. You get speedy service. You get the other advantage of dealing with the interested Scotiabank people. So talk over your money problem—whatever it is—debt consolidation—a new car—with the people at your nearest Scotiabank. They're ready and waiting to help you. How much money do you need?

"KEEPING ON TOP" OF SHOOTING INCIDENT CAUSES PROBLEMS

Reporter's Daily Job Varied, But Always Exciting

By TERRY UTELY
Of The Daily Courier Staff

What I like most about my job as a reporter is the fact you never know what each day will bring. Only one thing is certain, it won't be the same as the day before.

Take Saturday for instance. I couldn't have guessed when I left for work that I would be involved with a wild shooting incident in an isolated area within an hour.

I was just sitting down to my typewriter around 8:30 a.m. when the editor put down the phone and said, "There is a shooting in Westbank, check the police."

EMERGENCY

I got a police but firm "This is an emergency, call later," from the RCMP.

"Get over there," said the editor. Westbank covers a good many square miles so it took several steps before I located the right road.

Just as I turned off the main road, I met a car coming out driven by a well-known Kelowna man.

"Don't go down there," he said. "A man who shot a police officer and a girl is still running loose with a gun."

I told him I had to go. I stopped at the last house on the road and asked some men what was going on.

The only information they would give me was that I shouldn't proceed any further. "That man with the gun may be behind any one of those trees," they said. "The police said not to go any closer."

I could see police cars about 300 yards further on, parked in a bare field. The cabin where the shooting occurred was about 15 feet down an embankment from where the police cars were.

I reported by phone to the office and was joined by our photographer about 25 minutes later. Together we decided to drive closer.

The area where the police were was bordered on two sides by the cliff edge. Police with rifles over their shoulders were patrolling the edge.

DANGER

Hours later, when everyone felt the man had got out of the immediate area, vigilance was relaxed at this particular point, but when the photographer and I arrived danger seemed to be in the air.

You cannot get information from policemen on duty. They would tell us nothing.

We could not see the cabin over the cliff edge because of the many trees surrounding it. It descended at a 75 degree angle and was very narrow.

I came around one curve and faced a car coming up. I put my brakes on, so did he. We looked at each other.

The road was too narrow to pass. Behind me was a steep embankment and a sharp curve. A sheer drop of 50 feet bordered the road.

At each other.

The dogmaster arrived from Kamloops with the tracking dog. They were picked up in a police car and driven to a point where the dog could search along Powers Creek, which ran through the gulley.

Police cars came and went. Radio calls could be heard from their cars with messages about road blocks and the movements of the searchers in the woods.

We heard the injured constable would be alright, despite a bullet wound through the leg. The helicopter returned about 11:30 a.m., refueled and took off again.

Many of the RCMP men had not had any breakfast or lunch. Some had been on duty all night before they were called out at 8 a.m.

NARROW ROAD

Shortly before 1 p.m., I decided to descend to the cabin in the gulley. I asked a man if the road was passable for my car. He said at least six had gone down that morning, including the ambulance.

The road wasn't visible until you were actually moving along it. It descended at a 75 degree angle and was very narrow.

I came around one curve and faced a car coming up. I put my brakes on, so did he. We looked at each other.

The road was too narrow to pass. Behind me was a steep embankment and a sharp curve. A sheer drop of 50 feet bordered the road.

At each other.

At each other.

The man tried to back my car, but he couldn't get any traction, so he backed down almost a quarter mile, cursing me in particular and reporters in general. I'm sure.

WEIRDO PLACE

All he said was "This is no road for a woman to be traveling."

The road ended at the door of the one room shack. It was made of unpainted boards with a stove pipe sticking through the roof for a chimney. There was just enough room inside for two beds, a wood stove and a table. In a hole inside the door, a white metal wash basin sat on a wooden shelf.

Two policemen were guarding the cabin. I was not allowed to go inside.

The cabin was bordered by the creek on one side and the cliff on the other. Heavily wooded hillsides rose from back of the cabin. In front was the road.

A small shack to one side had one sheep and several lambs hanging in the sun. On the other side a lean-to was filled with wood. A truck, believed to be that of the hunted man, stood in the front yard. A pile of baled hay was near the foot of the road.

There was only one other house in sight and that was across the creek.

I did not look forward to climbing up that road again. It had been travelled so often that ruts had developed in spots. The creek was getting soft in places too.

I came up in first gear, bouncing in and out of ruts with only inches between me and the cliff side. I met a car again in almost the same spot. This time the car saw me and reversed. I had to stop on the hill and I handed the car over to a police officer who kindly drove it the few remaining yards. I walked!

A kind neighbor gave me a peanut butter sandwich before the mobile unit arrived. I also took advantage of a certain outdoor facility in his back yard.

Oh well, it's all in the life of a reporter. I left after eight hours on the scene.

College Plan Goes Ahead

Saturday was a day of tension and speculation in Kelowna as the college plan went forward.

After more than three years of discussions, that was the day that would decide if Kelowna was to be the site of a regional college to serve the Okanagan Valley.

Although a similar question had never before been asked of the voters in the area, as far as could be ascertained almost twice as many voters turned out as might be expected.

At least now, planning can get down to details and the next vote will be eagerly awaited by the whole community.

Following the final results at 10 p.m. Saturday, C. D. Buckland, chairman of the board of School District No. 23 and that board's representative on the Okanagan Regional College committee said:

"I was very pleased with the results of the plebiscite in the Kelowna school district. The people have shown in no uncertain terms they want us to proceed immediately with the establishment of a college. They have expressed confidence in those who have pioneered the first phase of planning."

It was very disappointing indeed that the general public in Kelowna was not able to vote on the matter, but we will be sure to put the matter before the voters in the future.

When Const. Jones returned to the scene the cabin was empty.

"Saturday night 12 men maned the road blocks and remained at the scene. Sunday 15 to 20 men from the Kelowna detachment continued the air and ground search," said Staff Sgt. T. J. L. Kelly of Kelowna RCMP detachment.

"Constables Ronald J. Grunert and A. W. Dick checked all cabins in the surrounding forest. They were landed by helicopter at each one. The helicopters did not return to the scene Monday," he said.

Eighteen members of the auxiliary police in Kelowna assisted police with road blocks and patrols. RCMP detachments north of Kelowna sent some 10 men.

"Two members of the Kelowna search and rescue unit were asked to help Sunday. Fred Kitch, timber cruiser, used his knowledge of the forest by assisting from the air. Dave Karan, assistant forest ranger was up in the helicopter also."

"The civil defence unit in Kamloops sent a mobile kitchen to help feed the men taking part in the search. Harold Whitehouse, civil defence co-ordinator in Kelowna, is in charge. The staff-sergeant said, "Volunteer cooks have been Mrs. Whitehouse, and Mrs. Lucy Knox of Kelowna and a Peachland crew of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Neil and their son Franklin, Mrs. Josephine Bradbury and Mrs. Birdie Chisholm."

"We are quite sure it will be possible to go ahead, and eagerly look forward to the establishment of the Okanagan College."

Mayor Parkinson on Sunday said: "Many things could be said regarding Valley co-operation or the lack of it, but at this time one's assessment, if put into words would do no common good."

"All I can say is I sincerely hope ways and means can be found to make the Okanagan College a reality, and that Penitence School District will eventually play a very important part in a regional college that before too many years could become a degree granting university."

"To Kelowna voters on behalf of council and the trustees of School district No. 23 I say thank you for your progressive thinking in respects to the welfare of our young people."

"Perhaps people did not have the complete story."

"The next step is to find out how much more it will now cost people in other areas and find out if it is feasible to go ahead without Penitence."

Theatre Seat Sale Causing Resentment

Now that there is no stage entertainment scheduled for the Community Theatre in the immediate future, it is a good time to point out that all those organizations which sponsor events in the theatre that there is considerable resentment about the manner in which reserved seats sales have been handled recently.

Quite understandably sponsoring organizations have sent blocks of tickets to Vernon, Penticton and other valley centres for sale there. This is desirable and necessary. But the manner in which it has been done has prompted an undesirable local reaction. It has, in fact, created considerable antagonism.

This reaction has not been prompted by one incident but by a succession of such incidents. Persons appearing to purchase tickets immediately they were on sale have been confronted with a plan on which most of the desirable seats have already been marked off.

One such incident will serve to illustrate. Recently a purchaser appeared to buy tickets within ten minutes of the time they first went on sale. He was fourth in line at that time. When his turn came, every seat in the centre, excepting three in the fourth row, right back to the "hard" seats was marked "sold". Also the seats on both sides three and four from the aisles were crossed out. He was fortunate; he took the three in the fourth row.

It would be impossible, of course, to convince this patron that all those seats had been sold since the box office opened.

To make matters worse, the day before this particular performance, a local citizen bought four "excellent" centre seats! And this better than two weeks after these four seats had been indicated as sold!

As we have said, this sort of thing is not new. Presumably what happened, was that blocks of seats were sent to other towns and the unsold seats were returned for sale here. Actually there is nothing wrong with that.

But it does prompt the question: should a great majority—as presumably there is—of the best seats be sent out of town? Should Kelowna patrons be forced to accept the less desirable seats? Also, should the early buyers, the enthusiasts, be forced to accept inferior seats while the late buyers, the indifferent almost, be able to purchase good seats simply because those seats had not been purchased in other towns?

The present sales policy—which apparently it is—inevitably creating a situation which will react to the detriment of the theatre and the organizations sponsoring the various events in it. There is resentment already and it is deep seated enough to keep otherwise enthusiastic theatre-goers home. It is also persuading others to wait for the return of the unsold "foreign" tickets and buy them—or stay at home.

Kelowna people are asking why they should be penalized on the choice of seats to the benefit of out of town people. "After all, it is our theatre; we built it." They are asking, too, why it is necessary to send what appears to be all—but, certainly, most—of the good seats out of town.

The fact that unsold tickets are returned from these towns suggest too many are being sent in the first place. It suggests, too, that if people are not able to purchase seats, it should not be the people of the Kelowna area.

Some adjustment of policy is obviously necessary before Kelowna people are completely discouraged about obtaining good seats for Community Theatre performances. If the buildup of resentment continues at its present clip, it will be just a matter of months before Kelowna people are staying home in droves, leaving the theatre for the use of the people of other valley towns.

Maybe a Lesson Here

From The Hamilton Spectator:

There's a lesson in the action a British diplomat took to push common sense into his nineteen-year-old son's head. It could well be memorized by thousands upon thousands of today's parents who let their children get away with almost everything short of murder.

The diplomat, a counsellor at the British embassy in Washington, stripped his son of diplomatic immunity and made him apologize to the police and turn in his licence for driving offences.

The son had been given tickets for speeding, ignoring stop signs and going through red lights. Ordinarily members of a diplomat's family cannot be prosecuted or made to pay fines unless they agree to appear voluntarily.

How many Hamilton parents would force a child of theirs to face the music, especially if there was a legal loophole to scramble through to immunity?

Too many of today's young people are over-protected. Doting elders interpret parental love as an emotion that demands no discipline but only full attention to the art of giving.

It's difficult to blame impressionable children when over-indulgent or just plain-lazy parents allow them to have their head, come what may. Who wouldn't take advantage of a pair of soft touches?

That British diplomat had the right idea, it bears repeating. He was thinking of his son's future when he made the boy accept some of the responsibilities that go with the freedom to drive a car. If he'd thought only of the present, as many modern-day parents do, he would have taken the easy way out, treasuring his son's favor more than his fibre.

Refinement In Accounting Used In Gordon's Budget

OTTAWA (CP) — When Finance Minister Gordon's budgetary accounts for the fiscal year ended March 31 are converted to a system of bookkeeping known as a national-account basis, he wound up the year not with a deficit of $23,000,000 but with a surplus of $332,000,000.

This compares with a deficit on national-account basis of $206,000,000 in the previous year when the deficit was $619,000,000 on the normal budgetary account system.

The national-account basis is regarded as a refinement of the budgetary accounts system and converts figures used in line with the kind of accounting that businessmen use.

Only income and expenditure transactions which have a direct and immediate impact on the flow of incomes in the economy are included. Intergovernmental financial transactions are taken into account as well as income and expenditure of such funds outside the regular budget as the old age security fund.

ON ANNUAL BASIS

National accounts are kept on a calendar year, budgetary accounts on a fiscal year.

The pre-budget white paper tabled in the Commons today said that on a national-account basis for 1964, the sum of taxation and other revenues of the federal government was $2,132,000,000. For the same calendar year, expenditures were $7,804,000,000.

This left a 1964 surplus of $332,000,000 on national-account basis. And when the national accounts calendar year was shifted to the fiscal year ending March 31 the surplus grew to $332,000,000.

The national-accounts system also shows the activity of provincial and municipal governments in the economy as a whole. The white paper said while the federal government was moving towards a surplus on a national-accounts basis, provincial and municipal governments were incurring a small deficit.

"In the combined total of all governments' revenue and expenditure, there existed an approximate balance on the national-accounts basis in the last year."

"Transfers from the federal government to provincial and municipal governments reduce the federal government's share of combined tax and non-tax revenues to 47 from 56 per cent of the total revenue, while raising the provincial and municipal governments' combined share to 53 from 44 per cent of the total revenue.

"Provincial governments transfer to municipalities an amount almost equivalent to that which they receive from the federal government."

The surplus which developed in the federal government's position on the national-accounts basis was attributed to the white paper to business conditions being more expansive than had been anticipated, and revenues reflecting an even stronger rise.

"All major components of revenue were affected by the general improvement in business conditions in 1964," the white paper said.

"Personal direct tax revenue showed a very substantial increase in 1964, partly due to the increase in the old age security tax rate on personal income and partly due to the built-in responsiveness of the personal income tax to cyclical variations in general activity."

No Match Here For Lighters Tax

LISBON (AP) — Is the old days if you used a cigarette lighter in Portugal and got caught without a licence for it you paid a fine on the spot or wound up with a jail sentence.

Soldiers and civil servants used to get double fines to teach them a lesson. Hardened cases had their lighters confiscated.

But all this has changed. The National Assembly recently passed a law by which people who do not pay a 250-escudos fine (about $10) may be held for 24 hours, but no longer. In the past, refusal to pay or failure to produce identity papers led to a complicated system of arrest, charges and imprisonment instead of the fine.

A licence costs $170.

The licensing came about for fear of loss of revenue to Portugal's match industry, a state monopoly in direct competition with lighters. The licensing law was adopted in 1937 when lighters first started making their appearance, and there seemed to be danger the state would lose much match revenue, perhaps more than $800,000 annually.

Since then lighters have popped up in such numbers that in recent years the government estimates it has earned $18,000 annually from licences and $15,000 a year from fines.

Why Waste Time
If Cancer Feared?

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

It seems as though several times a day, I read another letter from someone who recites a combination of symptoms and then asks, "Could it be cancer?"

Often the condition is such that I can surmise that it most certainly is NOT cancer. Again, the only possible conclusion is that it most likely IS cancer.

In still others, perhaps the majority of cases, all I can say is that it might or might not be, but some further facts and tests will give the answer.

The big mystery is this: Why, when people have uncomfortable or suspicious symptoms, do they waste time asking, "Could it be cancer?"

If it really is cancer, every day of delay makes things worse, and in time the day will come when the only thing left between being able to cure that cancer, and not being able to.

If it isn't cancer, then why hang back and worry and perhaps suffer, instead of getting treatment?

Some of my friends engaged in battling cancer (in the American Cancer Society) estimate that 92,000 more American lives could be saved this year if everybody observed the simple and almost routine steps to discover cancer sooner instead of later.

An annual checkup (including the "Pap test" for women) will disclose thousands of cases so early that the patient himself will not have noticed any symptoms. Found that early, cancer has a high degree of curability.

If, in addition, everyone would go to his doctor at once, (instead of asking, "Could it be cancer?") when a suspicious symptom develops, still other thousands of cures would be possible.

The best chance of cure exists when the cancer is just starting—"cancer in situ"—it is called. The next best chance is when the cancer, although growing, is still localized—still confined within the organ in which it originated. Hope of cure is still high.

But when it has spread beyond the original organ, and there is what we call "regional involvement," chances are slimmer, even though sometimes then a cure is still possible—depending, of course, on the extent of the spread.

Here are some figures on the difference in cure rate between localized cancers and those with regional involvement:

Thyroid: 90 per cent if localized; 78 after regional involvement.

Uterus: 81 per cent when localized; 46 after involvement.

Breast: 82 per cent when localized; 47 after involvement.

Colon and rectum: 68 per cent when localized; 34 per cent after involvement.

Prostate: 50 per cent when localized; 30 after involvement.

Lung: 21 when localized; five after involvement.

Can there be any more convincing evidence that waiting, worrying and asking, "Could it be cancer?" is inviting disaster?

Dear Dr. Molner: What can be done to soften toenails? I have noticed that mine have become very brittle when I cut them, and the nails of the big toes have started to grow inward toward the flesh even though I cut them straight across without curving the corners. Will gelatin be of any help? I soak my feet often in hot water but that doesn't seem to help.—MRS. J.S.

Gelatin won't help and, in fact, nothing can be done to prevent the natural tendency of nails to become harder with age. The curving of the nails could be a result of narrow-toed or short shoes. I'd have a podiatrist check and treat this.

MRS. R.L.M. The "radioactive cocktail" is a recognized and well-tested means of treating an overactive thyroid.

OTTAWA REPORT

By PATRICK MCNEILLOAN
Daily Courier Ottawa Bureau

The taxpayers of Canada have just received the first dividend in 15 years on the stock of Air Canada, a crown corporation which is wholly-owned by CNR in the name of the people of Canada.

The convenience of Canadians, the safety of travellers and the prestige of Canada are all properly rated as more important than earning a profit on our national air line. But last year a further large increase in traffic, largely due to cheaper fares, increased the average load factor to 63 per cent, and the airline was able to improve not only its convenience, safety and prestige but also its earnings.

Now, hanging round Air Canada's neck like a millstone, is the fracas over the Winnipeg maintenance base, a fracas now entering its tenth year.

CROSS-CANADA AIR LINE

When our national air service was established in 1953 under the name Trans-Canada Air Lines, it was just that—a domestic air route concentrating on the 3,300 mile cross-Canada span. Its operational headquarters and maintenance facilities were set up at about its midpoint, Winnipeg. But the post-war development of long-range aircraft permitted TCA to open up trans-Atlantic and Caribbean services, extending its route schedule to 39,000 miles, so the centre of gravity of the airline shifted eastwards.

In 1956 a leading firm of airline consultants, Wallace Clark and Co. Ltd., was commissioned to study TCA's overall requirements over the next two decades. After a thorough four-month review, they recommended that a completely new maintenance base, suitable for turbine-engined aircraft, should be built at Montreal to replace the old Winnipeg base. By 1959, TCA had one of the world's most advanced and flexible new maintenance facilities ready to open at Montreal. The state of Winnipeg, numbering 1,170, was offered employment at Montreal, and generous removal expenses to encourage their transfer.

But Manitoba and Winnipeg both protested to the federal government against the move of the base—alleging the uneconomical cost of a long-distance move of a crown corporation must battle TCA then, and another firm of consultants, K. J. Dixon & Associates, to review their maintenance requirements.

In a four-volume report, Dixon & Associates recommended that "the Winnipeg base should be closed down at the earliest possible date in the interests of efficiency and economy. To keep two bases operating would jeopardize safety by diluting the skilled and specialist maintenance staff, to modernize Winnipeg would cost $14,000,000 and this would merely duplicate facilities already available at Montreal."

WINNIEPES SUBSIDIZED

But TCA agreed to use Winnipeg to service Viscounts, until these are replaced by more modern planes in about 1972. This is costing the airline, namely Canadian taxpayers, about $4 million a year—or more than 84 times last year's income—in inflated expenses; the only justification for this is that it keeps 800 employees, at an average salary of $6,000, spending their money in Winnipeg. So blatantly is this a political subsidy that an MP asked in Parliament if the government would shoulder this bill, instead of Air Canada—as the company has now been renamed.

This raises some important questions: Is Air Canada a transportation company or a government welfare agency? Should the taxpayers' pocket and the traveller's life be jeopardized to grant special benefits to special areas of Canada?

Last June the government appointed a Winnipeg lawyer, D. A. Thompson, Q.C., to make another survey. The facts suggest that the government should give Air Canada its blessing to conduct its operations in the manner which will provide the best service at the lowest cost. And that means—close Winnipeg.

LETTER TO EDITOR

KELOWNA IS FRIENDLY

Sir,

Reading the letter published in the April 6 issue of your paper, prompted me to write this reply.

Having lived in different cities all over the world, I can honestly say that in the eight months I have lived in Kelowna, I have found it to be one of the friendliest, most beautiful cities in which I have ever lived.

The people are delightful, and everyone I have met has gone out of their way to make us feel more than welcome.

My family agrees wholeheartedly with me.

PANHANDLE PORT

Canada may open talks with the United States for access to an ocean port on the Alaskan Panhandle, a strip of coastline between British Columbia and Alaska.

The Panhandle cuts off the resource-rich lands of North-western B.C. and South-western Yukon from deep-water ports, the most efficient outlet for getting mineral and timber products to world markets. A 1903 international commission fixed the boundary and it has rankled Canadians ever since. Northern Affairs Minister Irving says the best prospect is for declaration of an international port. — (CP Newsmag)

Good Fellowship Is Theme Of U.C.W. Luncheon Friday

Good fellowship being one of the Easter goals of Kelowna's two United Churches, some 200 men and women attended the United Church Women's luncheon held in the Church hall on Friday.

An early sitting for business members and friends preceded the main luncheon which began at 1:15 p.m. Bowls of spring daffodils highlighted the head table and the four long tables were attractively decorated with painted Easter Eggs and tiny flowering plants in yellow egg cups set at each place. Three hostesses presided at each table, and before them were placed large and beautiful iced home-baked cakes to be served as dessert following the delicious cold plate.

Acting as hostesses at the long tables were Mrs. F. Sutton, Mrs. Harold Glenn, Mrs. M. Borden, Mrs. E. N. Popham, Mrs. E. Shore, Mrs. L. Green, Mrs. S. M. Simpson, Mrs. B. Badke, Mrs. H. Mitchell, Mrs. G. Vidler, Mrs. E. J. Strachan, and Mrs. J. Minette.

Following lunch Mrs. Cecil Sladen, the president, welcomed the guests and introduced the special guest seated with her at the head table, who were Rev. and Mrs. R. Leitch, Rev. and Mrs. Sydney Pike, and Rev. Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Birdsell. Dr.

Birdsell also said a few words of welcome.

Miss Greta Bejani opened the entertainment with two songs, "Little Brown Bird Singing" and "Come to the Fair". Miss Bejani, who was accompanied on the piano by her mother, has a truly lovely rich soprano voice and her singing was greatly enjoyed.

Next came a fashion show to end all fashion shows. Mrs. Gary Drachenberg acted as commentator, and Easter bonnets and accessories were fashioned, highlighted by such models as "The bath mat number" accompanied by "suitable" accessories; the giraffe hat, strongly recommended as a morale builder, and a charming floor mop wig for hairless days.

The luncheon was convened by Mrs. R. W. G. Dookes; the food was delicious, the program was entertaining and good fellowship reigned at this most successful affair sponsored by the First United Church women.

ANN LANDERS

Ann Answers Challenge To Accuracy Of Advice

Dear Ann Landers: As a physician I was interested in your reply to the woman who wrote that she had given birth to twins. Her blond husband decided that the fair-haired twin was his but that the black-haired twin was fathered by someone else.

The distraught woman pleaded with you to tell her husband it is not possible for twins to have different fathers. She said she had searched in the library for proof of her innocence but was unable to understand the medical language.

You said it was indeed possible for twins to be fathered by separate males, but that such occurrences were extraordinarily rare. After having said it was possible I'm sure your suggestion that her husband "shut his foolish mouth" meant nothing.

I would like to caution you against making statements which have no basis in fact. There is no scientific evidence that a woman who is pregnant can be impregnated. When it comes to matters involving a field about which you know nothing, Ann Landers, why don't you shut YOUR foolish mouth? —RICHMOND, VA. M.D.

Dear M.D. from Va. Thank you for your letter. If I attempted to rely on my own knowledge for the replies which appear in this column I would not have been writing for nearly ten years. I am in touch with experts in many fields and these experts are indecisively generous in providing me with information.

You are wrong when you say there is no scientific evidence that a woman who is pregnant can be impregnated a second time. Dr. Luigi Gedda published a book in 1961 entitled "Twins in Science and History," which reported the birth of biracial twins in 1809. These twins could not possibly have been fathered by the same male. Another case reported in the same book described a twin birth in 1947. The babies were of differing blood groups. The woman's husband fathered the female twin and her lover fathered the male twin, by her own admission.

Teamsters Rake Revelstoke 8-0

It was a bright Sunday afternoon and Ervin Mueller and his Kelowna Teamsters basked in the sunshine as they trampled the visiting Revelstoke Internationals 8-0 in Okanagan Valley Soccer League action at City Park oval.

Mueller, the playing manager, went on a scoring rampage firing four balls behind the beleaguered Revelstoke goalies. Other Kelowna marksmen were Rudy Lindner, Alex Roth, Frank McCormick and Jim McMillan.

Teamsters dominated play from the opening whistle of the first game here in the loop of spring schedule. The win left Kelowna in fifth place in the standings, one point behind Kamloops Balcon who lost 4-3 to North Kamloops United Sunday.

In other league action Penticton IWA handed the leading Vernon Nationals their first defeat in two years dumping the leaders 3-0 in Penticton.

In Penticton, Vernon and the hosts battled through a scoreless first half as each side alternately held the play. Herb Meyer opened the scoring 15 minutes into the second half while Bir Bhadrappa added the insurance tally at the 25 minute mark.

North Kamloops ended the first half of its game with a 4-1 lead, but the referee disallowed the second goal in a half-time conference with his linesmen. The officials said the ball entered the side of the goal.

Robert Corbin and Mark Davies each scored twice for North Kamloops. Bernard Mourier and Tony Hesel got one each. Bill Neuhaus scored on a penalty kick and Nick Resell scored the second Balco goal.

Ullman Emulates Tornado In Devastating Hawks

DETROIT (CP)—Norm Ullman has no explanation, and Billy Reay says there's a bit of luck involved, but the slick-skating Detroit centre reserves a special scoring touch for Chicago Black Hawks.

Ullman, a 19-year National Hockey League veteran, scored three goals Sunday night to lead the Red Wings to a 4-2 victory over the Hawks and a 2-2 lead in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final series.

"It's the third three-goal performance for me against Chicago in the last two playoffs," Ullman said after the game.

Ullman's first two goals, which gave the Wings a 3-2 lead, came within five seconds of each other and set a Stanley Cup playoff record. The previous record of seven seconds was set by Chicago's Billy Hay against Detroit in last season's semi-final.

NHL RECORD STANDS

The NHL record of two goals in four seconds was set in 1931 by Nels Stewart of Montreal Maroons.

"I'd look pretty good too if I flipped two shots from the blue line into the net," Reay, the Chicago coach, said after the game.

NORM ULLMAN
... "bit of luck"

"It takes a lot of luck to score like that."

But Ullman's record of 193 goals in nine regular NHL seasons as well as his 15 goals in 41 playoff games prior to this season speak for themselves.

He had 42 goals in regular season play this year and Sunday's performance brought his total in the current series to five, second to Bobby Hull of Chicago, who has seven.

Erie Nesterenko had given Chicago a 1-0 lead in the first period, but 19-year veteran Ted Lindsay matched it to give the Wings a 1-1 tie after the first 20 minutes.

BEATS CROZIER

Hull, the muscular left winger, scored the prettiest goal of the game in the second period stepping on the ice after serving a minor penalty. He caught a pass from Doug Mochs behind the Detroit defence and easily outmanoeuvred Roger Crozier, the Wings' pint-sized rookie goaltender.

It was then that Ullman struck for the two record-making goals.

Nelson Rumps To 9-2 Win

NELSON (CP)—Nelson Maple Leafs, led by Mike Laughton's three goals, took a commanding two-game lead in their best-of-five Western Allan Cup semi-final series Saturday night, humbling Moose Jaw Pats 9-2.

The win, coupled with their 7-1 victory over the Saskatchewan Senior Hockey League champions Friday, gives Nelson a 2-0 lead as the series shifts to the prairie city Friday.

Murray Owens, Bill Stevenson and Brian Russell each added a pair of goals to round out scoring for the Western International League champions.

Ken Joslin and Jackie McLeod each scored singles for Moose Jaw.

League season during which Rousseau managed only 12 goals and had many Montreal fans ready to buy him a one-way ticket to nowhere.

Coach Toe Blake, who during the regular season heaped Rousseau more than once, admitted after Saturday night's contest that, "without that goal by Rousseau, we may not have made it."

"And here I was yelling at him to pass out the puck and try for a deflection," the Montreal coach added with a grin.

Fortunately for the Canadiens, Rousseau either didn't hear Blake or thought better of it.

Instead of passing as he crossed the Toronto blue line, he faked once to drop Leaf defenseman Kent Douglas to his knees and then let fly a low stunner that shattered Johnny Bowser's goal stick before rattling into the bottom left-hand corner.

BELIVEAU GETS GYM

Rookie Yves Cournoyer, with his first playoff goal, and captain Jean Beliveau, with No. 45 of his playoff career, were the other Montreal scorers. Centre Rob Fulford counted Toronto's lone goal.

COOKIE GOES AGAIN?

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—The Kitchener "Waterloo Record," quoting "a most reliable source," says today Cookie Guchrist has been traded to Oakland Raiders by Denver Broncos of the America Football League.

Rousseau Sparks Canadiens' 3-1 Saturday Victory Over Maple Leafs

MONTREAL (CP)—The official title in Stanley Cup semi-final series B, but it might well be subtitled The Return of Robert Rousseau.

It may also add up to Montreal Canadiens' first appearance in a cup final since 1988.

The Habs, with Rousseau again leading the way, took a giant step toward that objective Saturday night by downing Toronto Maple Leafs 3-1 in the fifth game of their best-of-seven series.

The victory gave Canadiens a 3-2 margin and makes Tuesday night's sixth game in Toronto a do-or-die proposition for the defending champion Leafs.

They must win not only Tuesday night's sixth game, but also a seventh to be played here, if necessary, next Thursday in order to qualify for a shot at their fourth consecutive Stanley Cup.

If they're going to do it, one thing is certain: they'll have to stop Rousseau.

The 24-year-old rightwinger was the payoff man again Saturday night with a blistering 50-foot slapshot that broke a 1-1 tie and sent Canadiens on their way in the third period.

It was his second winning goal of the series—he also did the trick in the opener—and capped the fifth straight playoff game in which the 160-pounder has been an individual star both offensively and defensively.

All of which is a far cry from the regular National Hockey

Majors Open Season Today

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Johnson, Boston Red Sox and Washington Senators — a president and two baseball teams in need of better luck — open the 1963 American League baseball season here today.

Johnson, a strapping right-hander who proved himself a big winner at the ballot box last November, has been less successful so far at the ritual first pitch that traditionally opens the season in the capital.

Washington was shut out 4-0 by Los Angeles Angels last year in Johnson's first start.

At the moment, Johnson is the only president in more than half a century who hasn't pitched and rooted the Senators to an opening-day victory.

When Johnson and the photographers flash, Phil Ortago will take over for the Senators and Bill Monbouquette for the Red Sox.

Opening day 1963 is a break with tradition. Normally Washington and Cincinnati have it to themselves, Cincinnati getting prize of place in the National League because of its status as baseball's official birthplace. This year seven other cities get into the act.

Only Baltimore Orioles and Chicago White Sox, who open Tuesday at Baltimore, remain on the sidelines.

Cincinnati Emerges On Top Of Grapefruit-Cactus Circuit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baseball's exhibition season has ended with Cincinnati Reds on top in the Grapefruit-Cactus standings and Sandy Koufax' priceless pitching arm on ice.

Despite an 8-1 loss to Chicago White Sox Sunday, the Reds paced major league clubs with a 19-9 record in pre-season play, which wound up Sunday night with Baltimore Orioles' 5-0 victory over Houston at the Astrodome's $31,000,000 domed stadium. Regular-season races in the American and National Leagues begin today with openers in nine cities.

Koufax, the ailing Los Angeles Dodgers ace, tested his arthritic elbow for the first time in two weeks, working three scoreless innings in a 2-1 victory over Washington Senators, and then had the elbow encased in ice.

Sandy, who struck out the last five Senators he faced, said his arm felt great but added that he didn't know what the reaction would be. "It usually takes 24 hours before any reaction sets in," the 25-year-old southpaw said.

Milwaukee Braves completed a three-game sweep at Atlanta, their 1963 home, by nipping Detroit Tigers 3-2. St. Louis Cardinals edged Kansas City Athletics 6-5 on a three-run eighth-inning rally.

Pittsburgh Pirates whipped Philadelphia Phillies 5-1 on the four-hit pitching of Don Cardwell, Don Schwall and Al McBean. Home runs by Harry Bright, Leo Burke and Don Landrum powered Chicago Cubs past Boston Red Sox 10-3.

Cleveland Indians and Los Angeles Angels dropped their exhibition finales to Pacific Coast League clubs. Portland Beavers topped the Indians 6-3 in 10 innings and Seattle Rainiers topped the Angels 1-0.

George Elliot Stages Tourney

By DEBORAH POTTERCARY

Last weekend George Elliot secondary school held one of the biggest sports events in its history. We entertained the British Columbia senior boys' high school volleyball championships with 28 schools from as far away as Kitimat, Salmon, Victoria and Williams Lake participating.

The teams were divided into four sections with each one playing a round robin tournament. Each team played two games with the others in its division. For each game won, a point was awarded to the winning team from the one with the most points from each section advanced to the semi-finals.

These teams were Victoria from Division A, George Elliot No. 1 from Division B, Mission No. 1 from Division C, and Maple Ridge from Division D. In the semi-finals, Mission played Victoria and Maple Ridge played George Elliot. From this, Victoria and Maple Ridge went to the finals with Mission and George Elliot playing off for third place.

Mission, last year's champions, won over a very tough opposition put up by our George Elliot team.

FINALS
The final game started about 11:30 p.m. Saturday. Although both teams were tired after a very long day, the play was still of very high calibre with Victoria capturing first place. This was their second time.

The final standings were — Victoria, Maple Ridge, Mission No. 1, George Elliot No. 1. Our George Elliot No. 2, placed seventh giving our school a high position on the overall standings.

Of the two All Star teams named, three George Elliot players made the second. These were Walter Murray, Ron Biquist and Wayne Tait.

Thanks goes to the students who helped to make this tournament such a huge success whether they worked on the concession, help with the bagging, scored, or looked after the door. Special thanks also to the teachers.

After the excitement of the past weekend, the students are now settling down to studying for the Easter exams which are rapidly drawing near. The senior students begin writing Monday morning, April 12, and finish Thursday afternoon, April 15. These are probably the most important exams of the school year.

BONUSES
As well as being very proficient in sports, the students of this school are also making a name for themselves academically. Philip Townsend, a Grade XI student, recently earned commendation honors for one of his essays submitted to the Royal Commonwealth Society. Also, another student, David Roberts, from Grade VIII, received second place in School District No. 23 for his entry in the Okanagan historical essay competition.

To end on a rather pleasant note, Thursday, April 10, the students' council is sponsoring a Sadie Hawkins dance. Times are from 7 to 9 p.m. for juniors and 9 to 11:30 p.m. for the seniors. Come on students let's get out and make this dance the biggest success we have ever had!

Senior Secondary Students Involved In Exam Studies

By SANDY CALBREATH

With the majority of our school population busy studying for these Easter exams, things have been a little on the dull side for the last week. However, a little activity has been available for the bright students and those with studying all taken care of.

The track group, of course, are not letting exams keep them from maintaining that peak condition. The volleyball group travelled to Winfield on the weekend and put up a good show but did not manage to bring home any of the silverware. There were 19 teams of bowling who took a small trip up to Kamloops on the weekend and they did manage to bring a little glory to Kelowna.

The rugby teams played on Saturday and both teams finally came up with a victory over the Oliver squads. The senior squad won by a score of 11-0 and the juniors by a score of 14-3. The senior squad is undefeated to date and could go through to the Okanagan championship. The Kelowna squad started out fast and then managed to stave off the attack of the fast breaking Oliver forwards who took full advantage of some pathetic

"Kiss Me Kate," rock tactics by Kelowna.

Kelowna only has one more game to win and they have completed a season of undefeated rugby. If the team improves on its tackling and the back field settles down to passing the ball they could be the Valley champions on April 18. This is the day Pentecost comes to town and on the last meeting of these two teams it would indicate a real game is in the making.

For the junior rugby boys it was the first win of the season. The team finally played up to potential and it was a happy group of ball players who left the field after defeating Oliver 14-3. Well, this could be the last article from the hallowed halls of learning until after the Easter exams are over and forgotten. So we can only hope that all have a restful vacation and that we come back for the final big push rested and in shape to take the shock of the Easter exam results.

The poor Grade VIII and IX students are going to get their reports on April 15 so they will have all the holiday to convince parents that it was not his or her fault that marks are not what they should be.

Overthrow Of Mr. K One Factor In Russian Education Change

MOSCOW (CP)—Soviet education from kindergarten to college is going through a period of change, some of it traceable to the overthrow of Nikita Khrushchev.

Uncertainty and even some confusion are evident. Authorities admit that many practices are being re-examined and discarded.

Some of the criticisms have the familiar sound of those occasionally heard in Canada and the United States where, in recent years, the Soviet educational system has often been cited as a paragon.

One example is a recent editorial in the Communist party newspaper Pravda.

"In the course of the last decades, pedagogical sciences have not kept up with the development of national education. In the teaching of a number of subjects, there is no reflection of the achievements of modern science and technology, and a disproportionate amount of time is devoted to secondary, insignificant questions. Pupils are loaded as before with studies."

Problems at the lower end of the system were discussed at a press conference by Anatoly Shustov, deputy minister of education in the big Russian Federated Republic, and Alexander Zaporozhets, a leading researcher.

KINDERGARTEN CUT
Zaporozhets, answering a question, said the school entrance age in the U.S.S.R. will probably be lowered from 7 to 6, knocking a year off the two-year kindergarten program.

He added that he personally wasn't in favor of the change and claimed that while time spent in kindergarten would be cut the work would be intensified.

Behind the change is the fact that only a little more than 50 per cent of eligible children in towns in the Russian federation attend kindergarten.

This causes difficulties since Grade 1 is the same for all even though Zaporozhets said, kindergarten-trained students are better prepared, having been taught the rudiments of writing and arithmetic.

One official at the press conference said his five-year-old daughter, attending a kindergarten that specializes in the study of English, can answer 15 questions in that language.

An alternative to shortening the kindergarten period would be to make it compulsory for all but this would require a vast staff construction program.

Bliffer demands on university-level science students have been called for by academician G. Petrov, writing in Pravda.

THE TALK

Teaching By TV "Lags" Behind Original Hopes

WASHINGTON (CP)—Educational television in the United States after more than a decade is "still far behind what we had expected of it," says an American communications authority.

Much more money and a clear sense of direction are necessary, Chairman E. William Henry of the Federal Communications Commission writes in American Education, a new report from the Federal Communications Office. He says commercial TV has left a cultural gap to be bridged.

Educational television—known also as ETV—began May, 1953, from the University of Houston and there are almost 100 such purely educational stations in existence today.

Henry says there may easily be more than 200 by 1971.

Yet in the funds available for ETV and the lack of good programming at hours best suited to the broadest possible public impact, ETV has not lived up to its original promise "as the greatest medium for communications since Johann Gutenberg invented movable type 500 years ago."

The federal government provides funds on a matching basis to cover station construction costs, which accounts for much of the expansion in facilities. Congress so far has appropriated $21,000,000 and another $1,000,000 is in the works.

This aspect is perfectly satisfactory, says Henry, whose commission is official U.S. communications watchdog. Roughly comparable in the broadcasting field to the Board of Broadcast Governors in Canada.

That commission has set aside more than 300 ETV channels and in 1962 legislation was passed to ensure that all TV sets be manufactured with facilities to tap these channels.

Henry's main point of concern is that while TV has a great role to play in academic instructional work, a much broader audience from children to adults must be reached in the next decade.

He says: "ETV has a vital contribution to make to American television—a medium whose staggering impact on our society we but dimly comprehend. We know that more families own television sets than own bathtubs. "We know that children up to the age of 12 average as much time in front of those television sets as they do in school."

"These statistics do not tell us what the effect of the television revolution will be. But they force us to presume that its importance for the quality and content of our daily lives will be overwhelming."

Immaculata High Student Places Well In Contest

By BONNIE COWAN

Friday, March 28, the 18th annual Pilgrimage for Youth contest was held in Vernon. The competition, sponsored by the Oshidellows and Rebekah Lodges, covered the whole of the North Okanagan.

Our own Arthur Menu of Grade XI placed a competent second in the event and was presented with an engraved spoon as well as a certificate.

A more recent literary accomplishment on Monday night saw Terry Brunette, a Grade VIII student, win first prize in the annual essay contest in School District No. 23. It was sponsored by the Kelowna branch of the Okanagan Historical society. The winning essay, concerning the history of Immaculata Conception church, was forwarded to Vernon for entry in the Okanagan-Similkameen contest.

UNIFORMS
On the domestic scene, new school uniforms have made their debut, meeting with considerable enthusiasm. The ensemble consists of a collarless navy blazer, white blouse, and a green tartan skirt, styled in kilt fashion.

Just a word about the frantic cramming going on with regard to dreaded exam time. More than one frustrated individual is hitting the books hard these days, hoping to perk that droopy math mark somehow. Keep at it, though, kids, report cards tell a great story to your parents.

Turning to basketball, the weekend of March 27-28 saw the senior boys and junior girls teams travel to Revelstoke. The Dons playing to their capacity, were slightly overcome in the last quarter, the final score standing at 54-46 in favor of the Mountaineers.

Our girls displayed fierce school spirit to the end, but were defeated by a narrow margin of four points.

SUMMING UP
Team captains had this to say of the season:

Donny Schneider, senior boys, "Our year was a good one, even though we didn't make it to the top."
Ian "Whiskey" Whitehouse, junior boys, "We got off to a bad start, but came on strong near the end."

Joan Schneider, junior girls, "We had a good, successful year and tried hard to win each game."

Our senior girls had a great season also, fighting to win every inch of the way and always playing true to form.

Saturday, April 3, Kamloops held a bowling tournament at Twin City Lanes. Entries numbered ten, with three teams from Immaculata participating.

Our mixed team came fourth, the girls team came seventh, and the boys wound up in 10th place.

Police Seize Goods In "Black Market"

RANGOON (AP)—Burmese police units Friday seized all goods held by black marketers. Ever since the government nationalized the commodity distribution system last year, the black market has been thriving with goods sold through the back doors of "people's shops."

Bogalusa's Harrassed Mayor Between "Hammer And Anvil"

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—Harrassed Mayor Jesse Cutrer Jr. was between the sledge of the Ku Klux Klan and the hammer of civil rights today.

Negro leaders, spurred by the Congress of Racial Equality, are demanding changes in the old pattern of rigid racial segregation in this paper mill town of 25,000 residents—some 30 per cent of them Negro.

But concessions made to head off the threat of demonstrations and boycotts arouse hot resentment in many whites—with the Ku Klux Klan representing the fiery viewpoint.

Being the man in the middle, beset by conservative and civil rights pressures, is the new occupational hazard for many southern mayors.

Cutrer, a black-haired, square-jawed man in his middle 40s, doesn't relish his position. However, after several months of pressures and complications, he has had to grasp the nettle—the prickly issue of desegregation.

CAN'T PLEASE BOTH

"The only thing I can do," he said, "is do my best for the city. I can't hope to please both sides. I reached that conclusion six months ago."

"But I have just a little over a year to go on my term," he added. "After that I am out. Somebody else will have to worry with it, not me."

What's left of the mayor's term may prove to be more complex than all that has gone before—unless his constant preaching of restraint and patience bears fruit.

Johnson's Overture For Peace Given Cold Shoulder By Pravda

MOSCOW (Reuters)—The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda today cold-shouldered President Johnson's offer of "unconditional" discussions on Viet Nam.

The Communist organ questioned how the president's statement at Baltimore Wednesday "allegedly means a big and unexpected change in American policy."

Pravda said the president "had not a word about U.S. intentions to halt aggression in Viet Nam. On the contrary, he had said the U.S. must be prepared for a long and continuing conflict."

The paper published its commentary under the headline:

What's All the Fuss About?

It was the first official press comment here on Johnson's offer, although diplomats earlier quoted Soviet officials as being unenthusiastic.

Pravda claimed Johnson made it clear there could be no peaceful settlement unless "Vietnamese patriots stop fighting to liberate their homeland."

The easiest way to measure the total length of an appliance or power tool (Vibrot) that needs replacing is to use a flexible steel tape. Measure around the outside of the old belt while it is still in place.

Colored Baseballs

Not Dome's Answer

HOUSTON (AP) - President Warren G. of the National League authorized use of three different colored baseballs in an effort to offset the sun's glare in Houston's new domed stadium.

Manager Luman Harris of the Houston Astros tried orange, yellow and cerise balls Friday. The result was another failure of Astro officials to solve the problem that has made daylight play in the $31,600,000 covered stadium a virtual impossibility.

Finland Slowly Bites At Moscow's Influence

HELSINKI (AP) - Finland is slowly working away from the influence of its own Communist party and the Soviet Union just across the border. Finns are inviting Western capital to invest in their country in a way they could not have dreamed of 10 years ago.

Finland is much more independent than East European Communist states. Twice the Soviets tried to install a Communist regime in Finland under force of arms, and each time the Finns fought them off, bloodily.

Now, Finland has a democratic government, its people travel freely East and West and its newspapers are free to criticize the government, or for that matter the Soviet government and the U.S. They do all three, sometimes all on the same day.

Two hard facts remain: The Soviet government is next door, and the Communist party in Finland receives more than 20 per cent of votes at every election. Yet non-Communist Finns seem little worried about either circumstance.

All non-Communist parties have accepted the idea that Finland must be neutral—but prepared to fight off any effort to attack Russia by way of Finland. That reservation is written into her treaty with Russia made after she lost two successive times to the Soviets during the last war.

MOVED INTO UNIONS
Finland leaders explain the strong Communist party in several ways. It has moved into the unions in the southern industrial belt. In the forest camps and poor lands of the snowy north and east, it promises unemployment aid.

By contrast, the Social Democrats and other non-Communist parties which might appeal to the poor workers and farmers are divided.

The Social Democrats are in the bad books of the Soviets, for they were in control during the last war. They were starting in 1939 and later on in the "continuing war" at the side of the Germans. So far, Soviet influence has been heavy enough to keep the Social Democrats from forming a government.

The Agrarians, while okay with the Soviets, have limited city appeal.

Before the war with Russia, the Communist party was banned. No Finnish government now would dare to go that far.

President Urho Kekkonen, an Agrarian, is trying to make his party a little more like the Social Democrats, so it will have more city appeal.

NEW YORK (AP) - Aerospace developments highlighted U.S. business activities last week.

The first commercial satellite, Early Bird, was lofted into orbit for the government - sponsored, privately owned Communications Satellite Corp.

United Air Lines placed the biggest order for aircraft in history.

Early Bird, which has 200,000 stockholders rooting for its success, is designed as the vanguard of a satellite series that will establish a globe-grinding network for relay of voice, computer and television messages.

The possibilities of COMSAT are enormous but the investors who poured $200,000,000 into its stock have been warned that it may be several years before any profits are returned.

The first preliminary test of Early Bird's relaying ability was successful. It will be about six weeks before tests are completed.

United Air Lines placed an order for 144 jets which, if all options are taken up, will cost $750,000,000.

The jets, some to be purchased and some leased, would replace all of United's propeller-driven planes in five years.

The U.S. aircraft industry also stood to benefit from Britain's decision to buy more than $1,000,000,000 of U.S. built F-111 fighter bombers rather than develop its own.

Automobile production this week exceeded 200,000 for the fifth straight week as the heavy demand kept up. Output was an estimated 212,500, compared with 207,920 last week and 173,064 a year ago.

For the year, production totaled 2,864,315 against 2,426,579 at this point last year.

For the first time in five weeks, steel production dipped last week, but it still was near a record rate. The mills turned out 2,771,600 tons of steel, off 6.5 per cent from 2,785,000 the previous week.

The steel buying spree continued unabated as users tried to build up their inventories in case of a strike May 1.

DEBT CHARGES HIGH
The total interest on the federal debt is estimated at $1,008,000,000 this year, an increase of $53,500,000 over the previous year. But Mr. Gordon said a substantial portion of the debt is invested in productive assets and the income from this should be deducted in calculating the net interest costs.

On this basis, with a $414,000,000 return on investments, the net interest costs this year are estimated at $594,000,000, compared with $580,000,000 in 1963. This means the net interest cost will be 3.82 per cent of the net debt, compared with 3.90 per cent a year earlier.

OTTAWA (CP) - As of March 31, Canada's total net debt amounted to $798.30 for every man, woman and child in the country.

This is based on the latest population estimate of 19,400,000.

The net debt increased by $479,000,000 during the 1964-65 fiscal year to $15,549,000,000 on March 31. It was shown in the pre-budget white paper tabled at the Commons today by Finance Minister Gordon.

This increase was far below the $1,218,000,000 increase in 1963-64. But a large part of that huge increase was a bookkeeping operation to cover an actuarial deficiency in the amortization of superannuation accounts. The actual 1963-64 government deficit added $685,000,000 to the net debt.

Based on a population of 19,400,000, the net debt at the end of the 1963-64 fiscal year was $798.30 per capita, or a total of $15,970,100,000. A year earlier it was $739.50 per capita, or a total of $13,919,700,000.

Campaign To Be Stepped Up For Granduc Disaster Fund

VANCOUVER (CP) - E. L. Walker, secretary of the Granduc Disaster Fund, said Sunday the appeal will be stepped up this week in attempts to raise more money for the kin of 26 men killed in the Feb. 18 avalanche at the Granduc Mine in northern B.C. The fund total now stands at $28,255, including $28,800 from a provincial government grant. Mr. Walker said.

YEGGS GET $1,000
PRINCE GEORGE (CP) - Yeggs escaped with $1,000 during the weekend after cracking the safe in the Hudson's Bay Company store here. RCMP reported Sunday. The store was entered through a hole cut in the roof.

FOUND DEAD
VANCOUVER (CP) - City police were holding three men Sunday night in connection with the death of Jean Siro, 47, whose battered body was found in a rooming house during the weekend. A police spokesman said he expected charges would be laid today.
